Older Australians, their families and carers are invited to participate in a conversation on ageing with Federal Minister for Mental Health & Ageing Mark Butler on 10 October 2011 in Sydney.

On 8 August 2011, the Federal Government released the final report from the Productivity Commission's inquiry into aged care "Caring for Older Australians". The report canvasses issues about current aged care services and proposed new ways of providing support to older people in our community.

Your RSVP is essential. Refreshments served after the conversation.

The final report and further information about the Productivity Commission inquiry may be found at www.pc.gov.au
